TAXATION AND PRACTICE

3rd edition

The pre-eminent source for immediate, authoritative answers to trusts and estates issues

Marks' Trusts & Estates: Taxation and Practice, originally written by Bernard Marks, has been fully revised and updated for 2014. This is an essential resource for any practitioner needing to understand even the most complex tax matters relating to trusts and estates.

An excellent blend of theoretical principles and practical insights, and addressing the many challenging issues frequently encountered by lawyers, accountants and tax professionals, this text is organised around the life cycle of trusts and estates on a transactional basis.

With a logical structure and comprehensive coverage of both recent issues and foundation concepts, and providing detailed analysis of the new streaming provisions introduced after the decision in Bamford, the new third edition covers:

- issues such as trust mergers, takeovers and demergers, trusts and income derivation, and family trusts and distribution tax
- an explanation of, and reference source on, both tax law and trust law
- the Commissioner's practice, including references to all relevant private rulings
- the equity and trust law context in which the tax law operates, setting out the relevant equity and trust rules for each tax issue
- questions arising in practice, and issues often not considered when giving advice
- the potential opportunities and dangers in a given transaction affecting trusts, estates, trust creators and beneficiaries.

Marks' Trusts & Estates: Taxation and Practice remains the foremost tax and trusts practice text for Australian taxation, legal and accounting professionals.
