

THE TAX INSTITUTE

2021 National Superannuation Conference

26–27 August | Crown Conference Centre, Melbourne

12 CPD hours

Welcome

It gives me great pleasure to invite you to attend our National Superannuation Conference to be held at Crown Conference Centre in Melbourne on 26–27 August 2021.

While 2020's online conference was a great success, it'll be great for the superannuation tax community to meet face to face once again at our 2021 conference (touch wood!).

Now in its ninth year, the conference has grown to be recognised as the premier event for tax specialists in the superannuation industry, uniquely dealing with the tax issues impacting both the large fund and self-managed superannuation fund sectors.

The global pandemic has thrown out many challenges both here and overseas. However, Australia and the superannuation system has got through it all in relatively good shape (touch wood again!). But even during a pandemic, the superannuation system changes don't stop. In the past year we've seen the "Your Future, Your Super" legislation, 2021 budget measures and various interpretative views from the regulators. On top of that, and the business as usual activities, many practitioners and advisors have had to deal with the unique challenges that have been thrown at us in the last 18 months.

Which brings us back to the conference. This program brings together regulators and leading practitioners from the legal, accounting, audit and financial advisory services fields of the superannuation industry for two full days to discuss tax and related challenges and the opportunities that these will bring. Speakers have been chosen because they are leading superannuation and tax experts with the essential blend of knowledge and experience in the practical application of the laws. A mixture of plenary sessions and two streams of breakout sessions are offered. Delegates can pick and choose breakout sessions from either stream, to tailor a conference experience directly fitting their areas of interest.

In addition to the outstanding technical content, the program has been designed to also enable you to network and relax with colleagues and peers, and full conference registration includes attendance at the networking function on Thursday, 26 August at Evergreen, Crown Melbourne.

I encourage you to register your attendance on or before Friday, 30 July to receive the early bird discount and ensure your place.

Finally, I would like to take the opportunity to thank the Organising Committee and The Tax Institute staff for their work in putting this exceptional program together.

I look forward to seeing you there.

2:00–3:00pm	Session 4A: Tax governance – consultation and third party data Following the request by the ATO to contribute comments on the appropriate tax risk management and governance framework controls to effectively manage and mitigate the risk of inaccuracies in third party data, we saw the manner in which the investment management sector is reliant on each other to meet these expectations. For this session, a panel of industry leaders will discuss the ATO's guidance on these important framework controls, as well as explore whether there is 'best practice' for our sector in relation to meeting superannuation funds tax and reporting obligations. OR	Session 10B: Super Guarantee – no longer the toothless tiger While the super guarantee regime has always granted the ATO with enforcement powers, recent changes to regime have increased the penalty regime significantly. On top of that, post the super guarantee amnesty, the ATO's enforcement of the regime and issue of penalties has gone into overdrive. In this session, we will examine the super guarantee system and its penalty regime, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – An overview of the super guarantee system – Applying super guarantee to contractors – including the Moffet decision – What to do if you will be, or have been, late with super contributions? – SGC penalties and remissions in the post amnesty era – The application of the director penalty regime to super guarantee 	Phil Broderick, CTA Sladen Legal

OR	Session 11B: Hidden death taxes – Superannuation death planning Although Australia doesn't have death or inheritance taxes unlike other countries, when a member dies within a superannuation fund there are a number of taxing points with respect to benefits that need to be considered. In this session, Jemma will outline some of these hidden taxes and how to factor them into death planning, as well as when death benefits may be paid out, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – CGT on assets transferred out; – Lump-sum death benefits tax; – Transfer Balance Cap and death, including consideration of the impact of the indexation of the thresholds and exempt current pension income; and – Legacy pensions, reserve accounts and death – what does the Budget announcement mean, are these resolvable? 	Jemma Sanderson, CTA Cooper Partners Financial Services
3:00–3:30pm	Afternoon tea
3:30–4:30pm	Session 12: Are superannuation taxes and Age Pension benefits sustainable? While we have had regular tweaking of the superannuation system annually for several decades, changes are still being made at every Budget. Last year, the Retirement Income Review looked at the main sources of income for pensioners being the means-tested Age Pension and superannuation – and the dormant one of using equity in the family home to supplement retirement incomes. The Report concluded that a 9.5% SG contribution rate was sufficient and that pensioners are not efficient in utilising the sources of income. If this is correct, what changes should be made to improve the overall efficiency of the retirement system?	Michael Rice, AO
4:30–5:00pm	Closing drinks
